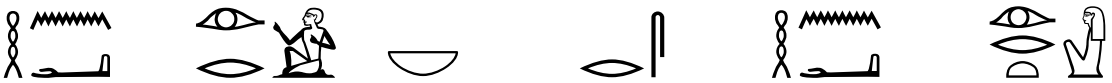
The Cairo Bowl

can be understood as an active masculine participle; the seated man acts as a determinative.



ḥr iḫ can be translated as ‘why’.